UNSELFISH SERVICE
KEYNOTE OF CALLING

POINT IS EMPHASIZED BY REV.
HAZEN AT NURSES' GRADUA-TION EXERCISES.

PRAISE FOR HOSPITAL

Institution Belongs to Janesville Public Declares Very Rev. Dean Reilly
—Credit Given to Sisters.

"The highest tribute that can be paid to any individual is to say that he or she led a life of unselfish service," said Rev. Joseph Chalmers Hazen in his address at the sixth annual convocation exercises of the Janesville Memorial Mercy Hospital Training School last evening at library hall.

Such unselfish service is the keynote of the nurses' calling," concluded Mr. Hazen. "When we think of unselfishness we think of two persons who stand out supreme in their possession of this beautiful attribute of character—mother and the Master. May we ever endeavor to attain to the standard which they have established by their lives."

Mr. Hazen congratulated Miss Smith and Miss Joyce on the successful completion of their period of training. He called attention to the fact that Christian communities have always given the most tender care to the sick and afflicted; this has been done by means of three agencies, the doctors, the hospital and the efficient management, and the trained nurses.

"The place of the nurse is even greater than the other two. Although it is a profession which brings no great wealth or fame, it does bring the satisfaction that comes from the joy of service and the realization that you have done your best for some one who needs your ministrations," concluded the speaker.

Last evening's exercises were well attended and were thoroughly enjoyed. The addresses were short and to the point and could not but be an inspiration to the young women of the graduating class.
Dr. S. B. Buckmaster in his remarks called attention to the high sense of duty which characterized the calling of a trained nurse. "The work was always for others," he said, and the great thing about their min-istrations was that they were performed quietly and unobtrusively of any kind. He said that the public of Janesville was to be congratulated on having two more expert efficient nurses to administer in the time of sickness and trouble.

Dr. T. W. Nuzum in his address,
"Our Hospital," emphasized the importance of the institution in the community. "It is more necessary than a court house," he said, "because justice can be administered in a barn, but we need a special and well equipped place in which to care for our sick and injured."
Dr. Nuzum went on to tell that the citizens of Janesville were blessed with one of the finest hospitals in the size in the world. At Mercy Hospital, he said, the doors are open day and night for anyone and everyone who needs the care and treatment which only can be given in a hospital. "I think that the advantages of our hospital ought to be more widely advertised," said the doctor. "We are caring for a great many patients there and we are caring for them just as well and even better than in some of the widely celebrated institutions of the country. It is a fallacy that has crept into the public mind that a large percentage of the patients who go into the hospital die.
The number is small, very small indeed, compared to the number who go out well, strengthened and built up, able to cope again with life's struggles. I want Janesville to realize what a great and thoroughly efficient hospital we have."

Praise for the Sisters of Mercy in charge of the hospital and credit to them for the unparalleled success they have made of their undertaking, was given by Dr. Nuzum. Women of double qualities, high intellectual attainments imbued with the greatest ideals of service and self-sacrifice, they have given their lives in devotion to a great work. Through their management the hospital has developed to a high degree of success.
Very Rev. Dean E. Reilly in the closing remarks commented especially on the spirit of success and the general feeling of gratification which was noticeable on every hand at the realization that the Janesville hospital was now a success and that there was no doubt as to its future service to the citizens of the community. He emphasized, too, that the hospital was "ours," that it belonged to the whole city and area that it was ready to serve rich and poor, old and young, alike.

Dr. Charles Sutherland presented the diplomas to the graduates, Miss Elizabeth A. Joyce and Miss Florence L. Smith. The opening address was delivered by City Attorney W. H.
Dougherty.
One especially delightful number on the program last night was a reading by Mrs. Janet B. Day, on "A Doctor of the Old School," from Ian Mac-Laren's "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush." One of the most beautiful pieces of modern literature, replete with the human element which touches the heart, it was delivered with the rare feeling and expression which characterizes Mrs. Day's recitations.
The musical program was also most delightful. Hatch's orchestra

The Wise Guy.
My paw says no one kin fool him.
No slicker ever got his goat;
A bunco steerer's chance is slim
With him, in fact too slim to note.
My paw says he ain't never got No gold brick, and I guess he's right.
But paw plays poker quite a lot.
And gits trimmed most every night.

My paw says he don't fall for no
Con games. He is too smooth, b'gosh;
No stranger kin frisk him, by Joe,
Or hand him any "uncle" josh.
He says he's next to all their stunts,
And he kin pick them out first crack.

But still he bought a gold mine once,
And never got a red cent back.
My paw says that no scallawag
Kin flunk him out of his dough
With ludded dice or git his swag.
By bettin' how the wind will blow.
He says he ain't afraid to go
And walk around town after dark,
But I know once not long ago
A man sold paw a city park.

Polishing Up the Summer Resorts.
Squeedunk Heights, June 1.— Hiram Hardacre, proprietor of the Pleasant Valley House, has hooked a pipe onto the spout of his old cistern pump so he kin pump nice clean water up into the bathtub on the second floor of the hotel when anybody wants to take a bath.
The rates at the Pleasant Valley House will be $8 a day instead of $5 a day, as formerly.

Lonesome Cove, June 1.—The owner of the High View House has dug an artificial lake nearly 47 feet in diameter at the rear of the hotel and is engaged in building a row-boat for the use of guests. This used to be a plain resort, but now it is a watering place. A photograph of the hotel is being enlarged to use for advertising purposes in the magazines. It used to be a 28-room hotel, but now it has 35 rooms. A partition has been put in every room, making two rooms where there was only one formerly.

White Bass Cove, June 1.—Lemuel
Wiggins, proprietor of the Cove House, has introduced a new invention in his hotel and has raised the rates $2 a day as a result. In every room he has placed a hammer and a large rock. Guests will hereafter be able to get rid of the same fleas and mosquitoes. The system is to catch the sand flea or mosquito, place him on the rock and then hit him with the hammer. It is thought this innovation will prove very popular with the guests.

Solitude.
(After Lord Byron, a long way after.)
There's pleasure in the pathless woods.
There's rapture in obscurity.
There is society where none intrudes.
Nigh to the endless waste of dreary sea.
I love not man the less, but silence
more.
There is a peace in it that's best
by far.
My neighbor travels, but I sit alone
On my front porch. You see, I do not own
The magic thing they call a touring car.

And Echoes Answer—When?
When, O when, are we to be free

OBITUARY.

Frederick Kapke.
Word was received in this city yesterday by Mrs. I. Huggins of the death of a brother, Frederick Kapke, aged 58, in Tacoma, Washington, and a former resident of this city. The cause of his death was heart trouble.

The deceased leaves besides a wife,
one son, Oscar Kapke of Aberdeen, South Dakota; three sisters, Mrs. I.
Huggins, Mrs. John Schields, and Mrs.
Albert Gekes, all of this city, and one brother, W. L. Kapke, also of this city.

No word had been received from the deceased for many years, and it was believed that he had passed away some years ago. Through the I. O. O.
F. it was learned that Mr. Kapke was living, and no sooner had they received this good news than did another message come that he was dead.
Funeral and burial will be held in the west.

In the Day.
Never morning wore to evening but some heart did break.—Tennyson.

PETEY— NO, THE CHAP WASN'T QUES TIONING MABEL'S VERACITY

Sport Snap Shots

The Federal league situation seems to be most distressing in Pittsburgh and Brooklyn. Prosy Gilmore, after a tour of the circuit, gave forth facts making it appear that the Feds are decidedly dissatisfied with their success in those two towns. Gilmore is sure, though, that these teams will make more money if they are able to add a few real stars to their line-up and so he plans another raid on organized baseball circles. The big plot with the Feds is to plant a baseball drawing card in every town and thus bring the fans out to see them perform. In Pittsburgh and Brooklyn there seems to be so much competition that the federal teams are not getting the notice they would like. Gilmore assures us that within the space of another month or so he will add a few real stars to the Pittsburgh and Brooklyn rosters and start the turnstiles clicking at their parks.

Joe Mandot has shown a rather surprising comeback. His class and speed in his battle with Freddie Welsh last week makes it appear that he is in shape to take on first-class opposition again and win his way back to repute in fight circles. Previous to the Welch encounter Mandot had languished for quite a long time. A year or more ago his fights with Anderson and Joe Rivers made him look like an old number and one never to repeat. If he can continue to show the class he displayed against Welch, however, he will be sure of quite a few more profitable fights. It is just possible of course, that Freddy Welch was not at all in his right mood, but just the same Mandot should be given credit for a good draw. The fact that he went all the way at a fast clip and kept Welch busy at every moment speaks well for his present condition and his future chances.

The Yale ball team has had it on their competition this spring. The early practice and their unusual class for indoor work show decided results. While the team this year is not perhaps as good as the one of last season, it is putting up a very fair performance just the same. The Yale baseball candidates get an early start at their practice, most of them beginning immediately after the Xmas vacation. Also, their indoor cage is such a one as few of the other schools have. A southern trip at Easter time tops off the training stunts that give Yale the bulge on most of their adversaries.

LIGHTWEIGHT WRESTLER IN CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH AGAINST OWEN DAILY

(Special to the Gazette.) Lincoln, Neb., June 4.—Johnny Bilitor of Toledo, champion lightweight wrestler of the world, and Owen Daily, lightweight champion of Nebraska, will meet on the mat here tonight and battle for $2,000 and the championship title. Both men are so well known in the history of the same men not a year ago met and wrestled three hours to a draw.

Evansville News

Evansville, June 4.—The beginning of the end of the school year of 1914 began with the baccalaureate address which was delivered by President Blew. He was chosen by the graduates as an expression of confidence in him. A large audience was present to greet Dr. Blew. On Monday night the Phoenix Literary society gave their program. A large crowd which packed the chapel was not disappointed, as a high class program was rendered. The evening given by eighteen girls furnished a beautiful spectacle.

The College Literary club gave their final program on Tuesday night. It was the form of a declamatory contest in which six college girls contended for the honors. It was an interesting and hard-fought battle. Miss Ida Heron won the first prize, consisting of a silver loving cup while Leila Syverson won the beautiful leather volume of Scott's poems, as second honors. Ruth Siglekow ranked third.

The college afternoon the long procession, headed by the faculty, wended its way from the campus to the Methodist church, where the graduating exercises were held. A large, enthusiastic audience was present to see the class of 1914 pass from their alma mater into the world. On account of the large number in the class, seven were selected to deliver their orations.

Stanley Cox chose as his subject, "Do the People Rule?" It was an up-to-date discussion of the basic principle of democracy, namely, whether moored interests of various kinds shall be the power behind our legislation of domestic and foreign affairs, or whether the people shall be sovereign.

Wesley Cerney delivered a good oration on "Life's Responsibility." It was not only well constructed but it was delivered with force and conviction.

Mac Brooke presented as her subject the living question, "Woman's Civic Duty." Her thought and composition were high, and while her delivery was charming.

"America, the Land of Opportunity," was the theme upon which Elmer Ward delivered a splendid oration. The literary construction of Mr. Ward's oration was a work of art.

Hugh Benton rose to the occasion by presenting a lively discussion of the liquor traffic under the title "The Greatest Issue." Mr. Benton's oration was delivered with fire and enthusiasm.

An extraordinarily original oration was given by Marie Jensen on "Hereditry." Its thought and depth were unusual.

The last senior to appear was Thomas Johnson. His "Modern Davids and Goliaths" was delivered with an enthusiasm which carried the audience with him.

Advaitis concerning said statements; therefore, he is "Resolved. That it is the sense of the board of trustees of said Evansville seminary and junior college that the said R. K. Blew, C. A. Stoll and R. Stanger were fully justified in their action to defend the honor of the school, and that we fully approve of their course in the matter."

The festivities of the commencement closed on Wednesday night, when an enthusiastic reception and banquet was held by the alumni at the Central Hotel. It was a joyous occasion, not merely because of the splendid banquet, but because of the good cheer which was added by the after dinner program. Mrs. Marilla Andrews Buckwalter added charm to the occasion as master of ceremonies. So closes the greatest year in the history of the school and the prospects for next year are bright.

Married Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, at the Amos Weaver home, Miss Ethel Woolcott of Magnolia to Lawrence Weaver of this place. The ceremony was witnessed by only the near relatives of the couple. Rev. C. E. Coon of the M. E. church officiated. The couple left immediately for Madison, where they will visit Mrs. J. A. Murray, and Brooklyn, where they will visit Mrs. Leslie Gillet. They will be at home to their many friends at the Weaver home on main street after June 8th.

A regular meeting of the city council was held Tuesday night. Oiling petitions were received to oil several streets, and referred to the street and alley committee after which the meeting was adjourned until tonight, when the question of the paving material will be considered.

SOME INEXACTITUDES.

That business throughout the country is generally depressed is admitted even by the most optimistic of democrats. That it is due to the tariff enactment is generally denied by the old time followers of Jackson, but freely talked of by even conservative and progressive republicans. That the wavering, pedagogue policy of the government has also had its effect upon the business world as a whole is now fully realized by the leaders in congress and they are ripe for an attack upon the present President Wilson. Wilson has advanced three reasons for the present depression in business which cannot possibly all be true. He told a delegation of bewildered manufacturers that decreasing profits, closed factories, restricted credits and large unemployment, represented a condition purely psychological. If he had left it at that he might have secured the approval of a large number of people who know nothing about the business of the country.

But he went on to say that the condition was worldwide. If his psychological adjective meant anything, it was that the manufacturers of this country alone were needlessly alarmed about the ignorant meddling of congress with the delicate machinery of business, upon the efficient operation of which all of us, from the president of the United States to Tony, the shoe-shine expert, are dependent for our subsistence.

Obviously these two things will not go together. There is no world-wide condition which can be described as psychological, in any useful sense. But Mr. Wilson, on the horns of a dilemma of his own creation, volunteers a further explanation which makes the others look like nonsense. He says that the railroads should receive better rates, and that the manufacturer of steel is involved in such an increase.

It might be possible to draw a diagram which would show the mutual destructive power of these three explanations. It would be difficult for one so unlearned in economics, or in business practice, as President Wilson, to demonstrate the truth of any one of these three propositions. It would be possible for the trained banker or manufacturer to show that two of them are true. The railroads are not receiving enough for their service. Business depression is worldwide. The psychological influence of these two facts is natural, subordinate and inevitable.

But Mr. Wilson puts the psychological influence in the first place. So far as he accepts advice, it is not a fair inference that he is guided by members of the cabinet who have as little expert knowledge on such vital facts as himself?

THE CORN CROP.

When boys under twenty-one can raise crops of corn that will yield a hundred bushels to an acre and average considerably more than eighty, the future of the corn crops in Wisconsin is assured. The Wall Street Journal says:

"Corn, the most extensively planted crop in this country, is the only one on which the business community has not yet had any kind of an official estimate. Wheat and cotton and most other major crops have told their story through the percentage condition. But corn, which last year did so distressingly bad a job as to upset both the domestic and international trade in feedstuffs, has thus far received a necessary degree of inattention and will get no report till July 8."

Yet our corn has never received anything like the amount of critical attention which it is getting this season. Last season's failure was not taken as wholly a matter of deficient moisture. Defective seed selection and unsatisfactory methods of cultivation have in part been blamed. The crop which has just been put into the ground represents a vast amount of effort on the part of farm specialists, commercial clubs, corn authorities, and of railway and financial interests in behalf of a better seed propaganda. During the past two or three years this has actually been carried into the country schools until most children old enough to receive public instruction know the essential facts about the selection of seed corn.

Last year's area covered 107,000,000 acres. Corn has extended its acreage far up into the Dakotas and over practically the whole of Minnesota. These northwestern states last year helped out the drought-stricken sections of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma to a marvelous extent, showing ing the commercial importance of the northern corn states. This season's planting is done, and it seems to have made a good but slow start. There is a fair stand in the big surplus states. Throughout the South, east of the Mississippi, soil in some places is rather too dry for rapid growth. Insect damage in wetter localities are also noted. But these are not serious. It is now a question of rain and sunshine, as the period of cultivation begins.

"The only occasion for anxiety now arises in the Southwest, where the wheat harvest may overlap the period of laying by the corn at the right time. Something may have to be sacrificed in the rush of what promises to be a phenomenal harvest. But the hundreds of thousands of silos, for the filling of which the corn crop is still the favorite, should insure its not being neglected. The whole range of foodstuffs prices is wrapped up in the corn outcome, and its progress will be watched with increasing interest for the next ninety days at least."

PARTY METHODS.

The Christian Science Monitor believes that the party methods are improving but slowly. That the changes in handling the affairs of the great national parties do not keep up with the thought and demand of the times. This may be true but still there were always rebellious members of any great political party. Men disgruntled because their personal views were ignored and oftentimes, if strong enough, as in 1912, they disrupted a great political party to further their own personal ends for revenge, pure and simple.

Way back in days of old, the "Know Nothings," the "Free Soilers" and others of their ilk were created and died a natural death. Then came the Populist movement, a success to the danger movement of the Seventies, and this died out. Free Silver disrupted the democratic and republican parties in the Nineties, and so it has gone about. True, the changes in party management have been slow and perhaps the idea of the Monitor that they have not kept pace with the times is true. They maintain that there seems to be a failure among party managers to recognize that a great, if not the main, impulse of the upheaval in American politics in 1912 was resentment of organized control. The revolt which reduced the republican party to at least temporary in-consequence was against domination of its affairs by a few masters, and this revolt reached its greatest numbers in the states where the party's management had been nearest to oligarchy. It would be supposed that a lesson so obvious would be grasped first of all by men who are in a way responsible for party conduct, and that there would be an immediate liberalizing of methods and a larger recognition that parties are made up of citizens, are an instrument for putting personal opinions into effect, and should be organized on a representative basis. The direct primary accomplishes a certain participation by the voters, but there is a constant tendency to anticipate and limit its possibilities by pre-primary selections that are not shared by even so large a number of councilors as in the days of the convention system's prime.

The need is still reckoned a real one that a few men shall make the party program and with the convention done away the few become fewer. Quite reasonably there is an activity of the party committee to secure candidates of worth and attractiveness. In order to secure an appealing ticket. The necessity of organization becomes not less but greater than before. But there is retained the old form of committees and the corresponding bar to the exercise of a free and representative opinion. None of the parties seems to be free from the overlordship of the political masters. Even the party that owes its eminence to the resentment of machine management fails to deliver a method of participation by the voters that could be described as representative. The others maintain their old way of subjecting even a general committee to the will of an internal organization, which in turn may easily fall into the hands of the party boss.

Perhaps it would be well for the party leaders if they would study the beginnings of the republican party and the way it achieved its strength, the coming together of men with a common conviction and a purpose to make it effective in candidates who were fairly representative. Power then came up from the citizens to the organization; party strength fell away when the process was reversed and power was exercised from self-constituted heads. Occasionally, through the efforts of a new chairman of the republican organization, there is an effort to liberalize the process; but even here there is a continuance of old rules that deprive the publicly chosen members of the committee of a real part in the proceedings. The distinction between organization that is representative and that which is subservient to a person or a group is clear enough so that it would seem to be attainable if there is an honest purpose to make the course of parties consistent with the demand for openness in all public affairs.

This dog licence problem is a question in many a family and there will be many a faithful Fido missing when the children come from school some day and then will follow weeping and wailing on the part of his friends the children. If the council really wanted to do something for the general betterment of the city why did they not lay aside some part of the city's lands for a ball park for the youngsters.

Is it possible that Bryan turned down a salary of fifty thousand a year as head of the Carnegie Peace fund to hold onto his job as secretary of state? Press dispatches intimate such to be the fact but it hardly seems possible—that is for Bryan—he did a foolish thing.

This fly swatting brigade of youngsters have really accomplished wonders if figures can be believed. At this rate if everyone took a hand in the game early in the year there would be but few flies left to bother with later in the summer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

"PHOENIX" WILL BE CIRCULATED FRIDAY; A SPLENDID VOLUME

Junior Class of High School Are Proud of Their Biennial Publication
—350 Copies Sold.

The "Phoenix" will be the attractive thing for high school students, alumni and outsiders for the next few weeks, beginning tomorrow, for at that time, Editor-in-Chief Harry Fuchs of the junior class will distribute the books to the buyers.

There are 175 pages in the book with some valuable cuts, and literature on every page. Every form of activity experienced by the students and faculty at the institution for the past two years, is neatly displayed throughout the book, with artistic drawings to add to the splendor of the publication.

To every member of the board, the highest commendable credit is due, and especially to Harry Fuchs, who worked night and day, in hopes of surpassing the 1912 volume. The opinion of the buyers of the book can only tell whether or not Mr. Fuchs succeeded in his efforts.

Prof. J. T. Shearer, critic of the book, and to whom the publication is dedicated, worked diligently, passed upon every piece of literature before it was published, and added innumerable words in producing an ideal pamphlet.

The book could well be called a book of clippings, when speaking of articles for to-day's edition. It is a record of an enviable record. The 1912 book was a masterpiece of an excellent addition to the pages. Every student, it is hoped, will obtain one of these books, and prize it as one of their worthy possessions, in remembering their high school days.

The cover is made of red hurlap with the words, "Phoenix, 1914." It is black on the outside, and the inside is colored in the most pleasing manner.

The book is the product of the Gazette Printing Company, on whose presses the pages were printed.

CROWDS EXPECTED TO ATTEND CELEBRATION

Everyone Is Boosting Janesville's
Fourth Demonstration—Post Cards Out For Distribution.

Everyone is boosting Janesville's coming Fourth of July celebration. Traveling men making the city their headquarters are spreading the glad tidings throughout their territory and from Northern Illinois come word that the Interurban and steam roads will be taxed to accommodate the crowds that are planning to be in Janesville this one day of days.

It is not only going to be a Fourth celebration but also a Home Coming for old residents. The advertising committee have had printed what might be called "Wire Cracker Post-cards," all in red, with a printed invitation on one side of the card and a place for the address on the other and they are being distributed throughout the city as fast as possible. The idea is that many will doubtless wish to send a notice of the coming celebration to some friend and this is an easy way to do it.

One merchant, when he saw the cards asked for three hundred and a second one for two hundred, which they plan to mail out to their customers in the adjacent territory to notify them that Janesville is going to entertain on the Fourth with the famous None Such Bros. circus as the feature of the afternoon. This circus is world famous and many newspapers, including city papers, have noted the fact Janesville was going to entertain this year.

Chairman Lane received the following letter and accompanying picture from three former residents of Janesville who are out in the wilds of Alberta announcing they would be present for the Fourth if they had to walk home.

Alberta Province, May 20, 1914.

Dear Sir:
We noticed in a Vancouver newspaper that Janesville was going to celebrate the Fourth of July this year with a None Such Bros. parade. We are all three former residents of Janesville and at a mass meeting which was largely and most enthulastic we unanimously decided to attend that celebration if we had to walk to get there. It looks as though we would have to hit the ties but by good luck we should arrive in Janesville in time to take part in the celebration, so save a place for us in the line of march if possible. We enclose a picture taken just as we started on our long journey and while some of our old friends may not recognize us, please give our regards to Col. None Such and say we will be there.

GAZETTE DISPLAY AD BRINGS BIG RESULTS

McCue and Buss Make One Thousand and Forty-three Sales in One Day.

One thousand and forty-three individual sales in one day. That is the record made by McCue & Buss on their formal opening day of their handsome newly remodeled drug store. All this is a result of an eighty-inch display advertisement run one to two days previously in the daily Gazette.

In addition to this immense number there were hundreds that made no purchases, but simply visited the store. This is just another instance to prove that display advertisements are read by Gazette readers and acted upon. Some can be heard to say that it is easy to get a crowd when things are given away. True, but these 1043 bought something. Those who did not buy were not counted. And laying aside that fact the advertisement had to be read first no matter what the offer was.

Advertisements are read. It depends upon what you put into the space and how attractive you make its appearance how large your results will be.

The Pleasure of Eating---

Yes—but far more important is the effect of food on body and brain.

Grape-Nuts

is not only a delightfully appetizing food, but is remarkably rich in nutritive values.

Made from whole wheat and barley, Grape-Nuts retains all the nutrition of these grains, including the mineral salts—phosphate of potash, etc.—so necessary for growth and repair of the delicate brain and nerve tissues, but which are so often lacking in ordinary food.

Ready to eat from the package, with cream or milk and a sprinkle of sugar—

A ration of Grape-Nuts along with other food helps wonderfully to provide a well-balanced dietary.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

WHEN THE CHAIN CHAFES.

A YOUNG couple came to the verge of serious trouble over a suffrage demonstration. She believed in suffrage, and planned to take part in the demonstration. Furthermore she wanted her husband to take part in it.

But her husband didn't believe in equal suffrage and was unwilling to go. Furthermore he wanted her to give up her intended participation. When she made it an issue, "If you really cared for me you would be willing to do this," to which he responded, "If you really cared for me you would be willing to give it up."

The result was an estrangement which came very near being serious.

"I'm not going to talk about the danger of dissension in the home when the question of suffrage is at issue. Not at all. I believe that people who would quarrel about that question would quarrel just as quickly about others if they were present."

The reason I related that incident is because of the attitude of the mind it illustrates.

The point is this. Each wanted to curb the other's liberty of action. Neither was content to have liberty for himself and grant it to the other. Each wanted to force chains of love and bind his mate down.

Half the unhappiness in married life comes from just that attitude.

Love and freedom are two of the most beautiful things in the world. Can't we have them both? Must we make up our minds which we want most and give up the other?

Many married people seem to want to curtail not only the acts but even the thoughts and opinions of their mates.

To my mind, the right basis for a happy marriage is absolute liberty of thought and the greatest possible liberty of action consistent with a respect for the rights of the other party.

Live and let live.

Remember that chains chafe.

But, you say, suppose a husband or wife holds opinions which are absolutely incompatible with the other's ideas of right and honor, and which lead to actions which seriously offend the other party.

At my friend, the time to discover things like that is before marriage, not after. Two people who are going to marry should live together for a period of time before they make that compact.

They must remember that a man's or woman's principles are the sources of his or her actions and should refuse to mate with one whose principles are profoundly different from their own.

If we could have less complaisance and willingness to compromise before marriage, and more after we would have fewer divorces.

Advertisements were just lines to get the people's money. Is this true? Would you advise me to try it?

(4) My hair is itching and it itches. What is a good remedy for this?

(5) What will remove freckles from the face?

(1) Hand Lotion—Steep one tablespoon flaxseed in one-half pint boiling water. When well steeped it is a sort of thin glue. Pour this into a bowl (it makes a cupful), add one cup witch hazel, one cup bay rum, 10 cents' worth of glycerine and 5 cents' worth of benzoin. Shake well and bottle. Apply a very little of this each time after having the hands in water, and when you go to bed.

(2) Cotton wool can be washed with warm water and a good white soap. Don't rub it on the board; squeeze and squeeze it. Don't wring dry—squeeze—water out between hands and hang up to dry.

(3) The moving picture give you some stock moving picture ideas, but that don't insure their acceptance by the moving picture companies. If you think you have a good idea for a moving picture play, send it on to the moving picture company and let them give you what it is worth. If it is worth anything at all to them.

(4) Brush it a tiny bit of castor oil into the scalp every three or four weeks. Let it hang loose as much as possible and don't go into the sun without a hat or parasol. With good care, your hair will look glossy and alive in a short time. Keep your general health good if you want your hair to look well.

(5) To remove freckles you must also remove the skin. Most of the strong freckle remedies are harmful to the skin. Use plain lemon juice if your skin will stand it, for bad freckles. Buttermilk applied every night and left on till morning will keep away freckles to a great extent. Wear a wide-brimmed hat when you go outdoors. A green parasol will help, also, and a green veil.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two young girls, one twenty-four, the other fourteen. How shall we have our evening dresses made?

(2) Will you please write some suggestions for a lawn party?

BLONDE AND BRUNETTE.

(1) Most of the evening dresses are rather sloppy looking just now. They are mostly of loosely hanging draperies, with a great deal of lace and net. Taffeta is used a great deal now for both evening and day dresses. Would advise you to consult a fashion book for patterns.

(2) Make it a Japanese affair. This is always enjoyed. Have little tables about the lawn for refreshments, and dress the girls who wait on table in Japanese costume. Have Japanese lanterns hung among the trees and distribute little Japanese fans, or parasols, as favors, among your guests.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Kindly tell me how to remove grease spots from a white coat, besides using gasoline.

I believe that warm water and a good white soap will be about as good as anything. Take a nail brush, scrub the spot gently, then rinse with a clean cloth dipped in clear warm water.

This will not work with axle grease or vaseline, however. For axle grease, first rub lard into it, then wash as above. If vaseline, soak in turpentine when fresh, then wash.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

A SUREST purest gold needs a little alloy to harden it, and make it practical for use, so the person with the most brilliant mind needs common sense in order to succeed.

DISHES FOR A DAY.

A nice little cake to serve at a tea or luncheon or as a dessert with fruit is the following:

Peanut Macaroons.—Beat the white of one egg until stiff, then add gradually, while beating constantly, a fourth of a cupful of granulated sugar and a few grains of salt; then add five tablespoonfuls of finely chopped peanuts and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Drop on buttered sheet. Garnish with halves of peanuts.

Grape Juice Cream.—Put two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin in two cupfuls of grape juice and heat in a double boiler until the gelatin is dissolved. Strain into a bowl in a saucepan of ice water, and when the mixture begins to thicken fold in the whites of four eggs beaten until stiff. Half fill individual molds and to the remainder add three-fourths of a cup of heavy cream, beaten stiff. Fill the molds with this mixture and chill. Garnish with whipped cream.

Strawberry Fluff.—Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff. Also beat one cupful of thick sweet cream until stiff. Fold the two together with half a cupful of mashed strawberries and half a cupful of sugar. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Easy Chocolate Cake.—Mix one egg yolk, one-half a cupful of milk, one square of chocolate and a fourth of a cupful of shortening, cook over hot water until smooth and thick. Add a half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of cold milk and one and a half cupful of flour, add a teaspoonful of soda to the flour. Bake in two layers and put together with boiled icing. Sweet skimmed milk may be used and in that case add a little soda and one teaspoonful baking powder.

Plum Charlotte.—Cook one pint of stewed plums in their own juice, and add a third of a pint of sugar if the plums are unseasoned. Press through a sieve and add two teaspoonfuls of gelatin that has been dissolved in a half cupful of boiling water; when well mixed fold in a half cupful of whipped cream and turn into a mold.

A pretty green salad to serve for a green luncheon is this: Season canned string beans with mayonnaise and pile in a narrow ring cut from green peppers on a pretty plate.

Women Worth While

MRS. OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)

"I do not catch them any more easily than a grown person does the measles," she says.

She's no suffragette at all. She doesn't even belong to the women's club. And when it comes to old-fashioned ideas about big families, why, she agrees with Colonel Roosevelt and Madame Schumann-Haenke.

Indeed, her admiration of the latter is based on the fact that diva has genius and eight children too.

"You see, I have no new ideas, and am not at all when it comes to being interviewed," she solemnly declares.

Mrs. Oscar Underwood, wife of the senator from Alabama, beg pardon, the majority leader in the house at Washington.

Yet for all her modesty, and partly because of it, to women in the national eye is more worth interviewing than Mrs. Underwood. Nor, in spite of her protestations to the contrary, has any woman two bigger brains than she.

In a ten minutes' talk with her, that Mrs. Underwood's hobbies are her husband and politics. Now that Mr. Underwood has been elected to the senate, she is the house's senior senator.

Johnston, it may be said that politics, especially Alabama politics, holds decidedly less zest for his wife. Mrs. Underwood's interest in her husband's career has been a vital interest, and one of practical as well as inspirational value to him.

"Since my earliest girlhood," Mrs. Underwood acknowledges, "I have been a fan of politics. I confess to this reluctantly, perhaps because down south we are so conservative with regard to women and politics. I think men and women rarely accept a woman in good faith when she declares that the consuming interest of her life is national politics. She gets credit for being either silly or affected, and almost never for the ability really to comprehend national issues."

For women are better fitted to grasp high position than is Mrs. Underwood. She is highly accomplished, having a mezzo soprano voice of unusual beauty. She cultivated her voice under her early girlhood, and continues her vocal study in Washington. In books her taste tends to the physiological and the philosophical. In the matter of clothes her gowns are always characterized by great simplicity, but it is that simplicity which only the smartest can achieve. Widely traveled, she has the culture of the cosmopolitan, but she has never lost that frankness, friendliness and open-heartedness that are characteristic of so many Southern women.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. Underwood purchased a home in Washington. It was the house formerly owned by Major Archibald Butt, who was among the victims of the wreck of the Titanic. Mrs. Underwood has spent every congressional season in Washington since her marriage, nine years ago. Also, she is a real stunner when it comes to remaining at the capital during the summer's heat of an extra session, in order to be with her husband.

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

To keep lemons, wrap each one separately in tissue or soft paper and place them in a stone jar in a cool, dry room. They should be looked over about once a week and take out any that show decay, but most of them will keep in a perfect state of preservation for weeks and months.

When boiling cabbage put in a pinch of borax; it will digest better, and the leaves will be tough, clean them with fine salt; if rusted, clean with kerosene.

THE TABLE.

Fruit Cake.—Seed and chop a quarter of a pound of raisins; stem and wash a quarter of a pound of currants, and mince three tablespoonfuls of citron. Mix all this together and thoroughly dredge with flour. Rub to a cream a generous cupful of powdered sugar and a half cupful of butter and beat into this the fruit and eggs. Now add a half teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon, nutmeg and mace, and stir in a cupful of flour. Last of all add the fruit, turn into a greased cake pan and bake slowly, not fast, until done. This will probably take an hour and a half.

Spice Cookies.—Cream one cupful of butter with two of sugar, and add two eggs. Mix together a teaspoonful each of allspice, cinnamon and nutmeg, and stir these into the butter. Add enough flour to make a good dough, roll out and bake.

Tomato and Cheese.—Cut the stem end from large tomatoes and with a small spoon scoop out the insides. To two tablespoonfuls of the tomato pulp add a teaspoonful of bread crumbs and the same quantity of cheese crumbled into bits. Season to taste and return this mixture to the tomatoes. Replace the stem and bake the tomatoes for twenty minutes in a roasting pan. Transfer to a hot platter and serve.

Cherry Salad.—Stone a pint of large cherries, being careful not to bruise the fruit. Place in a bowl and add enough vinegar to preserve the form. Chill thoroughly, arrange in a salad dish on lettuce leaves and pour over all a cream mayonnaise dressing.

Mousse Marron.—One quart of vanilla ice cream, one-half cup of sugar, one-quarter cup of water, whites of two eggs, one teaspoonful of granulated gelatin, one and one-half cups of prepared French chestnuts, and a pint of cream. One-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook the sugar and the water for five minutes, pour on to the beaten whites of the eggs, dissolve the gelatin in one and one-half cups of cream, add the chestnuts and add to the first mixture. Set in a pan of ice water and stir until cold, add the chestnuts and fold in the whip from the cream and add vanilla. Line a mold with ice cream and fill with this mixture. Cover, pack in salt and ice and let stand three hours.

Apricot Sorbet.—One can of apricots, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of wine, one-quarter cup of lemon juice, one pint of cream. Drain the apricots and add to the syrup the pulp rubbed through a sieve. Add the sugar, wine and the lemon juice. Freeze to a mush, then fold in the whip obtained from the cream. Let stand one and one-half hours and serve in glasses.

Sugar Rolls.—Two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons shortening, three-quarters cup of milk, one-quarter cup of brown sugar, one-half spoon melted butter. Sift the flour, salt and baking powder into bowl, add shortening and rub in very lightly; add milk slowly, enough that you can roll out the dough one-half inch thick; brush the top with melted butter, put one teaspoon brown sugar in center, double over and press edges together; brush top with milk. Bake twenty minutes in very hot oven. This amount makes eight medium-sized rolls. On Sunday put them in warm oven for ten minutes.

Cheese Fingers.—Cut puff-paste into strips as long and as wide as your middle finger, sprinkle with a layer of cheese (grated), press upon this another strip of pastry, sprinkle with more cheese and bake in a quick oven.

Cultivate Inflection.

Every one has the power of speaking with sweet inflection. Every one can attain a reposeful utterance and clear enunciation by training the ear and voice to work together in avoiding harsh tones, and cultivating the middle and more mellow register in every voice. Excitement sends it up to a screaming pitch, but self-control will lower it again, and its playground should be through the varying harmonies or cadences of five notes.

At the End of Forty-Eight Hours.

"Papa certainly didn't manage this European trip very well. He said we'd be in Rome two days, but he made a mistake and it's three—and now we've seen everything and there's absolutely nothing to do for a whole day."—Lippincott's.

Real Meaning of Friendship. Carlyle and Tennyson sat four hours smoking their pipes before the fire, neither saying a word. When Tennyson arose to go, Carlyle said, "Good night, Alfred, we have had a glorious evening together." Friends need not speak for each other's entertainment. They need only the silent assurance of the illuminating presence.

In the Dime Museum. "Why," asked the tattooed man, "Is the human pincushion making so much fuss?" "Oh, he's restless because his flannels are hurting him," the Circasian beauty replied.

THIS PRESCRIPTION HAS BEEN TESTED FOR YEARS

Positively Destroys Perspiration

The chemist who invented casco essence tested it for over five years. He gave it to scores of friends. They all praised it and wanted more, they are never without it. Now druggists everywhere can prepare it.

Casco essence does this. Destroys all body odor on skin or clothing. Ladies' dainty waists and lingerie or men's heavy coats. This clear antiseptic liquid has no odor and will not stain delicate or sheers white fabrics.

Apply casco freely to the skin. It cools, soothes and ends excessive perspiration for good. Not a greasy, sticky salve. Not a powder that clogs pores, silt and shows. Contains no perfume to disguise other odor.

Get casco powder from your druggist, have him dissolve it to make a full half pint of the essence. We refund the cost if it does not please you. C. A. Smith & Co., Manufacturing Chemists, Beloit, Wis.

Time Now to Paint Metal And Composition Roofs

USE "ALCATRAZ" BLACK PAINT "The Best Roof Paint"

There is no mystery about the ingredients used in the making of "Alcatraz" Asphalt Paint, which stands practically alone as the best liquid coating for a roof, smokestack, boiler, etc., made, although its merit lies somewhat in the skillful preparation of the oils and asphaltum gained by twenty years devoted constantly to the subject; still, we rely largely on the inherent virtues of Asphaltum first and to some extent on Linseed Oil and Pine Creosote.

We have the material and men to do this roof painting work. All you have to do is place your order with us and we'll give you a first class job.

Cook Without Heating the Kitchen

NEW PERFECTION Wick Blue Flame cook stoves do exactly the work of the coal range without the terrible exhausting heat and the dirt-making special burner construction. How the broiler broils on both sides at once, and about the patented fuel reservoir, refilled without turning off your fire.

Operated exactly like gas, but far cheaper. None of the dangers of gasoline; no smoke, no odor.

Note, in the picture, the cabinet top, the fine, big oven, the shelves and the towel racks. No stove could be more convenient. Roasts, bakes, toasts and broils to "perfection." No stove made does better cooking.

New-Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Be sure and see the latest model with the new THERMOS oven, an invention that gives you a range and fireless cooker combined. Don't forget that fuel saving soon makes up the price of the stove. That a cool kitchen makes cooking easy, especially when striking a match gives you your fire.

Consistent Users of the Want Ad Page Are Enthusiastic Over the Results Obtained By Them

Efficiency

"When you and I behind the veil have past, Oh, but the long, long time the world shall last."
Old Omar, said that, meaning—what? When you and I read that what does it say? Do you take it to mean that this is your day and that you are to make the most of it? That if you are going to amount to anything on this side of the veil you had best get busy? Do you know the value of time? Do you know enough to employ modern methods for your everyday work? Man or woman, are you a result getter or a procrastinator?

Speaking of modern methods do you know enough to use the want ad page of your own home paper for any legitimate want you may have? Or do you belong to that class of people who wouldn't advertise in any paper, don't you know?"

Do you know the efficiency of your own want ad page? Candidly speaking—do you?

Sugar.
Almost all the sugar in the world comes from two sources—the sugar cane and the sugar beet. There is also maple sugar, sugar made from the sap of date palms and from dried fruits. But the sugar we use in huge quantities, the loaf sugar, the granulated and the powdered, comes from the cane or the beet. Fifty years ago sugar was more or less of a luxury. Today it is a necessity.

Life's True Heroes.
Wordsworth characterizes the "little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love" as the "best portion of a good man's life." The real heroism of life is to do its little duties promptly and faithfully.

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 4, 1874.—Mr. John Davis of West Milwaukee street reports a robbery last night at his home. After examining the story our reports conclude that boys were the offenders. A back window which was shattered but not fastened afforded means of ingress. A part of the sash was cut away, allowing to panes of glass to fall out, and made room for a person to enter. The entrance was not artistically made, the putty having been removed in a rough and ready style. Means have been adopted to arrest the offenders and help them on their way to Waupun.

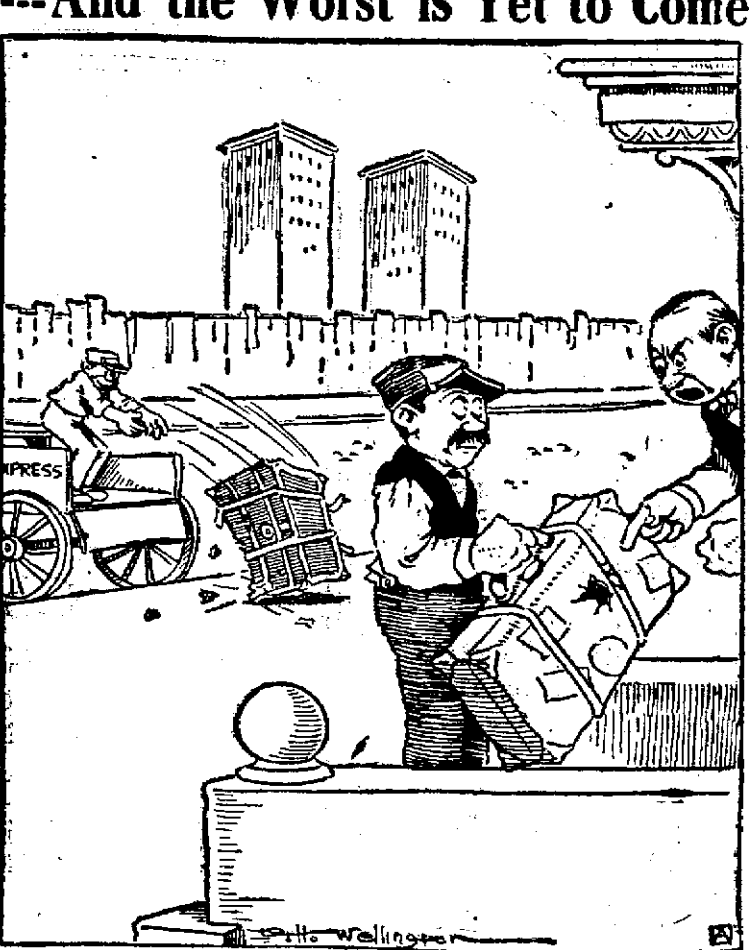

Prof. C. Merritt, who has been known in musical circles for some time as trainer of several bands, has just entered upon the furniture business at 54 West Milwaukee street, opposite the Hyatt block. He has everything on hand from the daintiest bric-a-brac to the most substantial articles of household furniture.

The weather is becoming warm once more and the ice creamists are looking up. Bailey will purchase a thermometer to keep the weather under more rigid control.

Last evening a party of young people took possession of a fleet of boats and went to Pope's Springs. An enjoyable time, in which refreshments and ice cream figured extensively, and a return in the late hours, was the result.

The Congregational church was well filled last night to witness the production of the Cantata under the leadership of Prof. Bischoff, and the evening's work was decidedly successful. Some of the solos were rather weak, while others approached excellence, but the choruses were good throughout and testified an infinitude of patient drill by the managers. Mr. Wingate, as the recluse, was very neatly attired in the garb of the third quarter of the nineteenth century, and his fourteenth century misanthropy was more than counterbalanced by a forehead of such height and breadth as come near reaching to the spinal column. His manner on the stage was very good.
